Purpose of

TEACHER

Teacher may be game changer.

Teacher hand over torch light to student

Teacher laydown the foundation of career.

Letter of Abraham Linkon

Abraham Lincoln letter to his son's teacher

"My son starts school today. It is all going to be strange and new to him for a while and I wish you would treat him gently. It is an adventure that might take his across uncharted. All adventures that probably include work, laughter and sorrow. In this time, life will require faith, love and courage.

In dear Teacher, will you please take him by his hand and teach him things he will have to know, teaching him - but gently, if you can. Teach him that for every wrong, there is a right. He will have to know that all men are not just, that all men are not true. But teach him also that for every wounded there is a heart, that for every innocent sacrificed, there is a dedicated leader.

Teach him if you can that it is worth earned. It is of far more value than a dollar found. In school, Teacher, it is far more honorable to fail than to cheat. Teach him to listen now to gracefully lose, and enjoy winning when he does win.

Teach him to be gentle with people, tough with tough people. Teach him away from envy if you can and teach him the secret of quiet laughter. Teach him if you can - how to laugh when he is sad, teach him there is no shame in tears. Teach him there can be glory in failure and despair is never there to stay at night.

Teach him if you can the wisdom of hope, but also give him to prefer the extreme mystery of hope in the sky, love in the air and flowers in a green hill. Teach him to have faith in his own ideas, even if every one tells him they are wrong.

Try to give up and the strength not to follow the crowd when everyone else is doing it. Teach him to listen to every one, but teach him also to refuse all that he hears on a screen of truth and take only the good that comes through.

Teach him to tell his friends and listen to the highest voice he needs to put a price tag on his heart and soul. Let him have the courage to be impatient, let him have the patience to be brave. Teach him to have soldier faith in himself, because then he will always have soldier faith in justice, in God.

Now is the time, teacher but not that last you can do. He is with a nice little boy and he is my son."

What is
Medical Professionalism?

Medical Professionalism - Definition

Medical professionalism signifies a set of values, behaviours and relationships that underpins the trust the public has in doctors.

Medical Professionalism

We all want good doctors. We want our doctor to be honest, properly skilled, fully up to date, to inform us, to take account of our preferences and to treat us with dignity and respect. Such a doctor we can trust. Equally we want to be confident that the medical profession is making sure that these standards of good practice are observed by all doctors, everywhere. This is the heart of patient-centred professionalism.

Professionalism

- Competence
- Personal relationships
- Managing professional boundaries
- Consistency and reliability of practice
- Reflection and learning
- Commitment to service
- Leadership and integrity

Good Medical Practice

- Good medical care
- Maintaining good medical practice
- Teaching and learning, appraising and assessing
- Relationships with patients
- Working with colleagues
- Probity
- Health
